

Enjoy a Native Vermont Turkey This Holiday Season

There's nothing like a Vermont fresh turkey for your holiday table! Our cold autumns make for extra-tender, juicy meat, and the flavor is really better. Call ahead and place your order with a farmer who raises them, or check your local country store to see if they're taking orders from a Vermont producer, but don't miss out on this rare treat.

You can skimp somewhere else, but this year, do something spectacular for your family and buy your holiday turkey from a local Vermont farmer!

Earth and Time Studio Gallery

Trish and Joe Capron of Wells, Vermont, are offering some worthwhile and unusual works of art at their Earth and Time Studio Gallery, located two miles north of the town center on Rt. 30 in Wells, VT.

The retail Gallery offers a wide range of items for sale. The Caprons showcase and sell the original works of local Vermont artisans in a variety of mediums, which include sculpture, paintings, slate, photography, stained glass, and pottery. Antiques, handbags, clothing and accessories are also among the specialty items available at the Gallery, and much, much more.

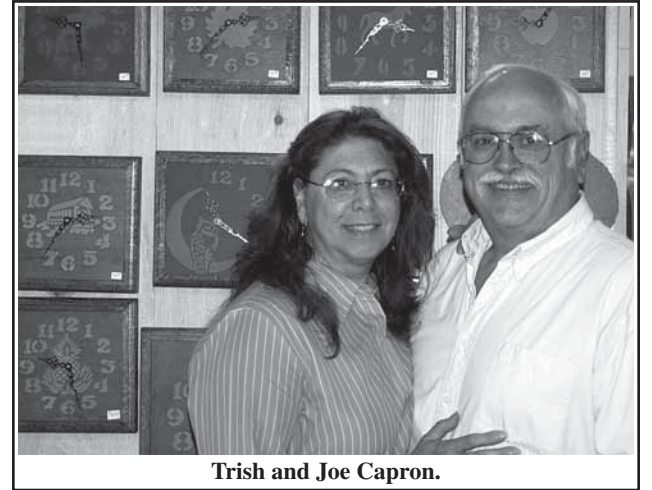

Works of art featured at Earth and Time Studio Gallery range from internationally known to some of Vermont's best-kept secrets. Robert Birbeck's unique and original sculptures in wood and stone reside in galleries and homes around the world. Rebecca Raymond and Vicky Stevens specialties are watercolor while Bob Hamblen creates exquisitely detailed oil paintings of Vermont and Lake St. Catherine.

The studio also carries one-of-a-kind designer handbags made by Judy Dreher, which are hand-knit with fine wool and felted with care. Stephanie Andrew Smith creates Doilies to Dye For-tops for ladies and children that uniquely combine doily appliques with upbeat color and style.

Co-owner, Joe Capron, features his own pottery and hand-crafted items in slate from local slate quarries. Working within the realm of slate for over 35 years, Joe's signature creations include clocks, welcome signs, trivets and candle pillar bases, all which inspired the name for the gallery (from the earth, over time). Joe Capron's vision for the gallery is clear. "I see the gallery as a center for one-of-a-kind gifts and keepsakes." Trish added, "We also enjoy sharing a little bit about every one of the artists we showcase."

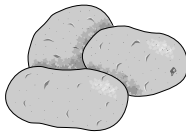

The Capron's interest in creating their gallery was a natural for them. Both are former art teachers with a passion for art. Joe recently retired from the Whitehall, New York, school district after 35 years as an art teacher. Trish is currently employed as a librarian at the Poultney District Schools and for the Town of Wells.

Earth and Time Studio Gallery, is located at 5 Capron Lane, Wells, VT. (802) 783-8025. It is open Wednesdays through Saturdays, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 12-5 p.m.
